

ANTHROPOLOGY: AA-T DEGREE

The mission of the Napa Valley College Anthropology Department is to provide students and the wider community with holistic, comparative knowledge about human biological and cultural diversity as derived from scientific and humanistic anthropological research. The Anthropology curriculum provides a strong behavioral sciences foundation applicable to many undergraduate programs, and prepares students for a broad range of public and private sector employment.

Program Learning Outcomes

1. Students will be able to understand and apply cultural relativism; they will be able to convey an understanding of multiple cultural perspectives.
2. Students will demonstrate a core knowledge base in anthropology appreciating and reflecting on human diversity in the past and present.
3. Students will integrate their knowledge of anthropological concepts and methods to creatively and ethically define, interrogate, and solve real-world multi-scalar human problems.
4. Students will be able to articulate key concepts, evidence, and watershed moments in the history of human evolution and demonstrate knowledge, skills and abilities toward that end.
5. Students will be able to critically assess the important roles that the past and the present play in informing current anthropological research.
6. Students will apply intersectional/equity-based approaches to understanding social change, including how such approaches affect the implications and possibilities of anthropological research.
